

Conflict Minerals Statement

To whom it may concern,

In response to your enquiry regarding the country of origin for Minerals, their derivatives and the ongoing reporting of conflict materials.

Although we are not required to report to the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we are assisting our customers to the best of our ability such that they can report to their customers or the SEC as appropriate for their products.

As a contract manufacturer it is not possible for us to control, via distribution, all the individual component manufactures specify in our customers' bills of material's. Speedboard is therefore, not able to confirm, sign or complete forms or declarations that we may receive from our customers, this can only be done by the manufactures themselves.

However, as your manufacturer we are responsible for the soldering process and what solders we use. Please see the latest declaration issued by Alpha Metals for all solders we use within our factory, either attached or available on our website - information section.

Thank you for your understanding,

Neil Owen
